TE FIGHT OVER BROADWAY

POINT GAINED YESTERDAY BY THE OLITAN TRANSIT COMPANY.

Belermine Upon the Compensation to be Paid the City-Property Owners Will Ask that the Company's Charter be Dissolved. ge Donohue yesterday filed a decision ing the application of the Metropolitan at Company for the appointment of Compers to ascertain and declare what com-Broadway from Chambers street were Mesers. Cutting. motion for the appointment of this com-Wingate and John Clinton Gray for the ined its charter in 1872, but took no ore the company can take any steps heliding its road it must pay to the city ed value of the right of way. The hitterly fought the appointment of at the different motions for such apent through all the courts. Special rai Terms of the Supreme Court secided that the petition for the apment of the Commissioners was a legal that the Legislature had the right to lewats: that the courts could not presume or that an elevated railway in ay had no intention of building it, and that ay had no intention of building it, and that was not for the city to protect the rights of her railrond corporations which the proposed alroad might injure.

The argument before Judge Donohue was saily upon the questions whether the charge of the company had not been forfeited by same, it being over fitteen years since the safer was granted; and as to whether the safer of the owners of one-half the property sended upon and the consent of the local shortless being first obtained, did not rentrate because the company liegal, in the present motion of the company liegal, in the consent of the secondary, recognized the existence of the secondary is not that the city was, many way, responsible for many of the legal degrees and that recent decisions of the General of the secondary in similar cases had settled it that the selfitudes as a secondary reserved to did not resistant and the secondary is not the secondary of the secondary is not the secondary of the secondary of the secondary is not the secondary of th bright of way, for the reason that the city stated to grant the right of way except on simulation.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Wickes said materias: "The next thing to be done is the stilling of the terms of the order appointing the Commissioners. Mr. Wingate and myself will do this pretty soon. I suppose, Then the hamissioners will be served with the order. If organize, and go to work, unless we get a say of proceedings pending an appeal. I believed to an elevated railroad on Broadway, and that this sentiment now will be tronger than ever."

The Corporation Counsel will undoubtedly speal from Judge Donohue's decision at once. A Bun reporter found Gen. Wingate in his affect. The General said: "I notified Mr. Fickes to appear before Judge Donohue at 10 vision to emprey a formal matter. I presume the orporation Counsel will appeal from the desiston and will take the case to the Court of ippeals. I want to say that we shall endeavor is facilitate this appeal as much as possible, and that our company will take no steps toward he building of the road until all these legal mestions are settled by the court of last resort. Tou see, we are in a peculiar position. I cont believe any railroad company ever had he same kind of a charter that we have. The first thing we are told to do is to pay the city a kind but of the use of its streets, and this um, of oourse, is entirely in addition to the tamages to be paid to individual property years. We simply have to pay in a gross sm to the city what the horse railroads, for natance, pay under the Cantor act. Now, if he courts should finally decide for any reason that we couldn't build our road, we lose the money we have paid to the city. The money cannot be refunded.

"I think that a majority of the property tolders on Broadway are on our side in this will be upheld. Some of the best lawyers in the city say it will be."

There is one man in the city who differs with sen. Wingate about the Broadway road, and that is Lawyer E. Winslow Paige. Some time lear week, probably on Thursday, Attorney-general O'Brien will hear an application by the Paige and other counsel for the commencement of a suit by the Attorney-General for the issolution of the charter of the Metropolitan franki Comnany. The application was to have been made yesterday, but Attorney-General O'Brien telegraphed at the last moment that he could not be in Albany on the day set, and postponed the hearing until next week. The application will be made formally on belaif of the Mutual Life Insurance Company and James D. Radcliffe, representing a large number of Broadway property holders. Mr. Paige was not willing, of course, yesterday to state the exact grounds of his application. He will undoubtedly claim, though, that a majority of those owning property on Broadway stronucally oppose the construction of the new road.

THE C. H. AND D. PROPLE SLIP. A Little Strategie Movement that Bidn's Turn Out as Expected.

The present management of the Cincin nati. Hamilton and Dayton Bailroad started out yesterday to execute a grand strategic movement, and got badly left. The policy of the management has been to follow, to an extent, in the footsteps of the former manager of the property, Henry S. Ives, and to an extent the credit of the company has been used to take up the loans of Ives & Co. in order to se-cure the securities pledged under them. Since this policy has been attacked in the courts the management seems to have doubted its expethe company were a series of notes held by Irving A. Evans & Co. of Boston. These, to-gether with some $50,000 cash, were given to Evans to prevent him from selling out his collateral. This loan was one of the most re-markable made by Ives & Co., as the par value of the collateral was over $5,500,000, while the amount of the loan was about $300,000. The markable made by Ives & Co., as the par value of the collateral was over $5,500,000, while the amount of the loan was about $300,000. The collateral included 48,000 shares of Dayton, Fort Wayne and Chicago stocks, practically the control of the road, and the western extension of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road. The management of the last named felt that they could not afford to lose control of this property, as Mr. Evans and his associates were very promptly taken care of in the manner stated.

In view of the litigation referred to, the management undertook to perfect their title to the Dayton. Fort wayne and Chicago stock, So they put the Evans collateral up at auction, with the view, apparently, of realizing enough to pay off the notes held by Evans & Co., and at the same time of buying in such of the Securities as they wanted, especially the Dayton. Fort Wayne and Chicago stock. The first lot sold by Auctioneer R. V. Harnett yesterday was $190,000 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the Dayton and Chicago road, which is a part of the Dayton. Fort Wayne and Chicago. These brought 1 per cent. of their face value, or $1,900. The second lot was $0' shares of the common stock of the Cincinnati. Hamilton and Dayton road, which brought $59 per share, or $23,600. The third lot was the $8,000 shares of Dayton. Fort Wayne and Chicago stock. The representatives of the present management did some lively bidding for it, but were finally outbid by Lawyer C. W. Fairbanks, who represented himself and others who have liens upon the stocks, as well as upon the stock of underlying companies, to the extent of several hundred thousands of dollars.

The principal claim is that of Austin Corbin, Alfred Sully, and Maxwell & Graves for about $400,000 due them on account of a sale to Henry S. Ives & Co., of the Dayton and Ironton road, which is the principal in the consolidation under the state were withdrawn. They belong to the estate of H. S. On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock ninety-eight convicts were in the rear of the prison breaking stone for road making. They were watched by George and John Jacobus, Frank Baldwin, and J. W. Lee. Each of the watchers was armed with a Winchester repeating carbine ers. Henry Smith, Thomas Wallace, and Samuel Johnson, a colored man, entered a little uel Johnson, a colored man, entered a little building on the extreme edge of the prison ploa. The guards all watched the building and awaited the return of the convicts. They saw the three men dash out and run down hill toward the woods. Shouting for them to halt, they discharged their weapons over their heads. Wallace and Smith ran on, but the negro threw up his hands and fell on the ground. The guards knew he could not have been hit, and continued firing in the direction of the two fleeing men.

Smith was the better runner and reached the woods far in advance of Wallace, upon whom the aim of the four guards was now concentrated. Just as he reached the edge of the clearing the four rifles cracked almost simultaneously, the keepers say, and Wallace was seen to spring into the air and fall to the ground like a log. The firing brought out other keepers from the prison, and the convicts were marched into their cells, while two men started in pursuit of Smith and others went to take charge of Wallace and the negro. The latter was found writhing in terror, but went to take charge of Wallace and the negro. The latter was found writhing in terror, but entirely unhurt, while Wallace was limp in death. The heavy rifle ball had entered at the back of his neck, tearing through the spine and emerging under the right eye.

Little is known of Wallace, except that he professed to have respectable relatives in Philadelphia, He was 20 years old, five feet six inches tall, dark, and lil favored. He was arrested in September for stealing old brass from a junk dealer in Newark, and had been in the penitentiary about a forinight. His sentence was for one year, the same as his companions in the attempt to escape. Smith, who got away, was a Chicago crook, nearly 50, and quite gray. He was sent up during September for entering and stealing in Newark. No blame is attached to the keepers for Wallace's death, but it is understood that the Board of Freeholders will now order the erection of a barb wire fence around the penitentiary grounds, and thus make attempts to escape more hazardous. In time a solid wall of trap rock will be reared around the institution by the prisoners.

A Swindler who Offered to Provide Jobs for Henry Rivers of 316 East Thirteenth street advertised that he could get employment for men. When Ernest Miller of 430 East Ninth street called on him he said he would get him a job as conductor on the Third avenue railroad for $10. Miller didn't have the money handy, and promised to call again. Before he did so he called at the office of the Third avedid so he called at the office of the Third avenue railroad and asked whether Rivers could deliver the goods. On being answered in the negative, he called on Superintendent Murray and told him about Rivers's little game.

Under instructions of the Superintendent, Detective Collins disguised himself in unprosperous-looking clothes and went with Miller when he called again on Rivers. After Miller had paid over $10 provided for the purpose, and got an order for a conductor's place on the Third avenue road from Rivers, they went to the Jefferson Market Police Court and got a warrant for Rivers's arrest. They then returned to Thirteenth street and collared the man. He was locked up at the Central Office.

Still Trouble Among the Printers. Five of the Trow Publishing Company's striking printers and all the piece men em-ployed by Wynkoop & Hallenbeck returned to work yesterday morning. The strikers from John Polhemus's shop say they will not go back until their foremen are reinstated. The members of the shop chapel have issued a cir-cular, in which they say:

Our foremen were locked out with us, and on their reinstatement we have determined.

Mr. Folhemna has repeatedly offered in his own interest to take back such men as would best suit his purposes. Boss any one believe he would retain these men under his own foremen any longer than pressing necessities red the lynothets and his previous record?

Added to this reference to his ways is a statement made by men of this chapel who desired not to

Buck Ewing Does Some Good Work as a

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4 .- The New York and New Orleans teams played their third game to-day. The weather was splendid, but as this is the busy season of year the audience was small. The New Yorkers were determined to redeem themselves from the bad name they got on Monday, and did their best, yet they did not succeed in making a run until the fourth inning. The New Orleans team did good work. The Ewing brothers pitched against each other. The play of the New Yorkers was excellent, and three double plays,

The next same will be played on Sunday, and the last of the series on Tuesday.

The players acted like gentlemen yesterday. Let them keep it up. Connor. Ward, and Tiernan were about the only men who could hit the ball successfully. The hits of the New Orleans boys were divided up pretty well. Powell did the harder hitting.

Eugene Derby, the catcher of the Newarka, yesterday signed to play with the Worcesters next year.

What's the matter with putting Ewing in the team every day next season? He can pitch one day and catch the next.

The Philadelphia Club played at Santa Fe on Thursday and defeated the local team by 8 to 4. After the game the Philadelphia men left for Los Angeles.

At Ridgewood, to morrow, the Metropolitan team that won the championship of the American Association in 1854 will play the Senators. This will be the second game between these two clubs, the first ending in a tie 3.

ANOTHER NAME FOR NEW TORK.

The Silly Airs of Newcomore Call to Col. James Fisk, Jr., put on a great many ridiculous airs when he found that he had risen in wealth above most men in New York. and that he was as conspicuous in the great city as he had been when he drove the smartest peddler wagon in New England. One day, after he had bought what was then Pike's Opera House, on Twenty-third street, he gave a dinner to the members of the French opera troupe, and he said to the leading ar-tiste (Mile. Tostee, if we are not mistaken), copers troupe, and he said to the leading artiste (Mile. Tostee, if we are not mistaken), "I am so great a man here that I could have the name of New York changed to Fiskville if I wanted to."

This remark was published in the newspapers, but it only made the people laugh. They knew that Fisk could do no such thing, and that the remark was wholly due to his propensity to be theatrical in all that he said or did. But now comes another stranger, a resident of only three years, a man who dannot speak the language of the country. He, too, has his head turned by the consequence he arrogates to himself in this big town. Blown up with pride to the point of bursting, Pulitzer dictates to the people the nomination of the man he wants for District Attorney—a young man of frivolous tastes, and one easily influenced.

At this the people do not laugh as at Fisk's idle boast, for Pulitzer does not stop where Fisk did, but endeavors by every means known to curraged journalism to carry out his wishes and his threats. He will learn his mistake before he learns the language of the people. It is a big town; too big for Pulitzer, and just now too wide awake to its own interests for any boss, political or Pulitzerian, to tyrannize over its people.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York Stock Exchange-Sales Nov. &

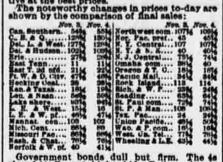

To-day's stock market developed a surprising mount of strength, and much more activity than was generally expected. This seemed to be due entirely to natural causes. In the first place, London bought moderately, and com-mission houses seemed to have rather more buying orders than usual. The execution of these orders caused a gradual improvement in prices until midday, when the trading element, apparently convinced of the tendency to higher beginning of the last hour of business the advance had become so great and the tone so strong that the short interest became alarmed and showed a disposition to cover, especially in the Granger stocks. These stocks were as conspicuous a feature of the market as any, though the movement of prices was as a rule pretty uniform, and the transactions, as has been the case for some time of late, exceed ingly well distributed.

The Granger stocks reflected the important progress that is being made toward putting the traffic of the roads north and west of Chicago upon a better basis. A good many reports to the contrary obtained circulation in the street, but the market constantly refutes them. As was noted in this column some time ago, the closing of navigation is having some effect upon the general railroad situaof Chicago evidently appreciate the fact that the tendency is constantly toward lower rates for transportation by rail. At the same time the character of the managers of most of these roads is a guarantee that they will not wilfully roads is a guarantee that they will not wilfully allow their revenues to be reduced in order to gratify sentiments of rotaliation. The Chicago speculative contingent was heard from early in the day in a most gloomy, yet confident, strain. Possibly some people attach importance to opinions of the sort that were circulated in the street this morning. The foily of acting upon such narrow, backwoods views was clearly proven before 3 o'clock.

Among the features of the market to-day was the fact that few stocks were offered for sale, and that the amount decreased as the market advanced. This is entirely natural, it was also observed that there was no disposition on the part of holders of stocks to advance prices. The rampant speculation toward the close was due to the scramble of the bears to cover their contracts. Next to the Granger stocks. Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific were prominent chiefly on account of the rapidity with which they advanced and the amount of improvement they retained. In the last hour Heading and Western Union came to the front, and, despits some contest in both, they scored substantial gains. Aside from the news from the West aliuded to, there was little or nothing in the way of developments to affect prices. The most that can be said of the market is that it is responding to the improved conditions, both in and out of wall street, that have been noted from time to time, and what is quite as important, to the decided change in the supervision of the conditions to the first that is the septiment there were sales of Cotton Oil Trusts at 31% to 32, clocing at $11%, as against $11% resterday. allow their revenues to be reduced in order to

The old 4% % cent. French Rentes, which the Chamber of Deputies has just voted to convert into 3 % cents, amount to about $150.000.000. It is extremely probable that the holders of a considerable portion of these securities will refuse to submit to the proposed reduction of their income, and in this case they will be likely to seek American investments for their money.

The directors of the Old Colony Railroad Company voted to-day to lease the Boston and Providence Railroad for ninety-nine years, at 10 % cent, on the capital stock and a bonus of $1,000.000. A majority of the stockholders of the Providence road has accepted the terms. The mileage of the Old Colony Company is thus increased to 537 miles. This is probably the first step toward a consolidation of all the railroads running out of Boston on the southern side.

The annual report of the Boston and Proviern side.

The annual report of the Boston and Providence Railroad shows "notes payable" increased by $500,000 to $760,000 on $8pt. 30.
The cost of the Bussey bridge disaster to date is $423,168, which is deducted from the surplus, leaving a surplus Sept. 30 of $116,041. Total income for the year, $1,905,495; total expense, $1,422,742; net income, $422,758; dividends declared, $400,000.

ciared, $400.000.

The gross earnings of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company for the quarter ending Sept. 30. as reported to the State Bailroad Commissioners, were $337.157, an increase of $13.272 as compared with the corresponding quarter of last year. Net earnings, $154,552, an increase of $27.313, and a surplus over fixed charges of $91,382.

Gross railway earnings for October com-pare with those of last year as follows: The business failures in the United States and Canadas during the week ending to-day, as reported by Messrs. R. G. Dun & Co., were 245, as against 216 last week, 201 the previous week, and 186 for the corresponding period of last year. The increase this week is altogether in the Western and Southern States.

TRADE LAW MARK.

PAXINE is the result of the best efforts of several prominent physicians and chemists. The ingredients are recognized by the profession as the most powerful and affective in overcoming the disorders for which it is recommended. Physicians prescribe and recommend Paxine in the above stated complaints, and we are constantly receiving the highest encomiums as to its merits. Paxine is sold by druggists, or delivered free by express to any address in the United States on receipt of price, Sec. and $1.00 a bottle. Instructive pamphlet mailed free on application.

NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY ALE BREWERS' ASSOCIATION. This association, through its Labor Committee, has thoroughly examined the charges made against the Leavy & Britton Brewing Company and Mathew Leavy, its President, to the effect that the present strike and boycott against that firm were justified, from the fact that the firm had attempted to reduce wages, and that Mr. Leavy had insisted that his men must either resign from a certain labor union or leave his employ. The association, at a special meeting held Nov 3, adopted the report of the Labor Committee, and, by resolution, directed the Secretary to publish a statement to the effect that the above-mentioned charges are unirue and without any justification whatever. without any justification whatever.

Catarrh in the Head

proper method by which to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Its many disagreeable symptoms and the dan-ger of developing into bronchitts or that terribly fatal disease, consumption, are entirely removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures catarrh by puritying the blood; it also tones up the system and greatly improves the general health. Try the "peculiar medicine."
